The Why, Where and How of Perfume

WHY: Perfume bottle collecting is a very personal adventure. The variation in perfume bottles is endless in material, style, shape and original use. Each bottle added to one's collection contributes information to the never-ending story of fragrances, their containers, and their use. Also very collectible are related items, such as ephemera (paper, history, advertisements), vanity items (powder containers, trinket holders), purses and associated items (compacts, solid perfumes, lipsticks, mirrors).

WHERE: Perfume bottles turn up in the likely and very unlikely places: antique shops, eBay and other internet websites, auctions, attics, basements. The entire global community is now at your fingertips via your connection to the wonderful-world-wide-web!

HOW: Each collector decides which perfume bottles or related items ignite such intense feelings of joy that they must simply be acquired and treasured. How to collect is a very personal experience!

Joining the IPBA will:

-  Help you build your collection.
-  Provide you with knowledge of the world of perfume bottle collection available nowhere else.
-  Put you in touch with many others that share your special interests. Specialty interests may include: Victorian, Early American and European glass, French and American Commercial, Art Nouveau, Art Deco, Atomizers, Czechoslovakian, Art Glass, Novelties, Figurals, Contemporary.
-  Provide you with information to help you identify and value your collection.
-  Bring you together with the most knowledgeable collectors and dealers in the field.
-  Add to your library of important reference and research material.

Membership Benefits include:

The Perfume Bottle Quarterly (PBQ)

This excellent and highly informative 24 plus page full color publication features news of perfume bottles, people, literature reviews, trade events, rare and unusual items, classified ads, Association news, and more. The PBQ is the essential tool to staying current on perfume bottle collecting, events, research, and people.

The Annual Directory

Listing members alphabetically and geographically, with collecting interests, the Directory will help you keep in touch with more than a 1000 members globally.

IPBA Annual Convention

The most exciting event in the perfume bottle collecting brings together dealers and collectors from around the world. The IPBA convention includes educational seminars, presentations, expert identification, and features a countless array of perfume bottles — ranging from a few dollars to thousands of dollars — in a variety of sale venues. Highlighting the convention is the world's premier exhibition and sale staged by the field's leading dealers AND the largest US perfume bottle auction with high quality bottles and vanity items in every price range.

The IPBA Website

www.perfumbottles.org was very recently re-designed and now hosts a Virtual Museum of member bottles across all specialty groups. It also provides convention and membership information, a PBQ article bibliography, and useful links for the perfume bottle collector. There is also a "Members Only" section for more topics and information that is unavailable to the general public. A calendar of events is also a unique venue to explore upcoming and exciting happenings in the perfume bottle collecting world.

IPBA eNEWS

The first of every month, a special eNewsletter is sent to all members that have registered their email addresses. The eNews brings you the most current perfume bottle and related item events from across the globe — from auctions to links to interesting sites or publications to book reviews to special exhibit announcements, and is a very current conduit for members to learn and share timely information.

The Lending Library

A unique benefit among collecting clubs, the Lending Library is an invaluable resource for researching and documenting your collection, or learning about an area that you would like to know more about. Whether you are a beginner or a seasoned collector, the IPBA Lending Library is a resource you should not miss. Many of our members are researchers and authors, too, and contribute their books to our library. We also have rare books that members have donated and that are available to all.

The IPBA is a 501(c)(3) not for profit organization incorporated in the State of Illinois.
